

WHITE PAPER

Divided Party

$DiP — Solana SPL Token

A meme token built on a serious surreal idea: that the world needs more conciliation, less conflict — and that finance can help get us there.

INTRODUCTION

Is this a joke token or a serious one?

Both — and that's the point. A "Divided Party" has never existed before. It's a new concept: unity through division, where enough separation exists to guarantee self-determination, yet enough common ground exists to act together. That's genuinely novel, and genuinely funny.

And then there's the crypto angle. When markets crash and everyone is sitting in a dip, buying $DiP isn't just a trade — it's a statement. While the rest of the market panics, you're buying into conciliation.

When markets dip, buy the DiP.

THE STORY

Divided Party (DiP) was the name of a political party, registered in South Africa during 2019. The name was changed but the DiP brand continues for conciliation, mediation and dispute resolution within the party, and promotion of international self-determination as opposed to imperialism, because if self-determination is not promoted for all, imperialism is implied.

THE BIG IDEA

We are not united by what we do — we are united by what we all agree should not be done. DiP stands for self-determination, mutual respect, and the rejection of imperialism in all its forms.

- Conciliation
- Mediation
- Self-determination
- Dispute resolution

HOW THIS LAUNCH WORKS

Purchase proceeds from this pump.fun launch go into a locked liquidity pool — not directly to the project. This launch is about exposure and creator rewards, which fund IPPAEX development.

HISTORY

- Original Ethereum issue
DiP was first issued on Ethereum, but infrastructure constraints meant tokens were not sold.
- Migration to Solana

Relaunched as an SPL token on Solana via pump.fun for better accessibility and lower costs.

- Listed on IPPAEX

DiP is listed on Ipparts Exchange — the home of brand tokens and the ipparts standard.

- Future issues

Subsequent token issuances will give preference to existing holders — similar to a rights offer in equity markets.

ROADMAP

DiP will be developed in conjunction with the Ipparts Exchange (IPPAEX) project — as the exchange grows, so does the ecosystem around DiP. The two are intertwined: a stronger IPPAEX means a more capable, more visible DiP token, and vice versa.

No predictions. The future is built, not promised.

Contract address will be added here after launch on pump.fun
